Who It Is For

-  Needs a durable mount for 26-65" TVs
-  Wants adjustable tilt and swivel for viewing angles
-  Looks for a single-stud installation option
-  Requires a mount with extension and leveling
-  Seeks a heavy-duty steel construction
-  Desires a low-profile design when retracted

Who It Is Not For

-  Mounting on drywall only
-  Needs a dual-stud mount
-  Requires a mount with VESA 400x400mm compatibility
-  Wants a mount that doesn't support curved TVs
-  Needs a lightweight mount under 50 lbs
-  Prefers a mount without leveling adjustment

Trade Offs to Consider

-  Limited to 77 lbs weight capacity
-  Requires secure wall type (not drywall)
-  Installation may take longer than simpler mounts
-  No built-in LED lighting
-  Limited to 400x400mm VESA patterns
-  Doesn't support 75x75mm VESA patterns

How It Compares

- More durable than standard mounts
- Fewer installation steps than dual-arm models
- Less adjustable than multi-functional mounts
- More expensive than basic wall mounts
- Better suited for single-stud walls
- Less flexible for very large TVs

Choose This If...

- ✓ Needs a durable, adjustable mount
- ✓ Wants a single-stud installation option
- ✓ Requires a mount with extension and leveling

Skip This If...

- ✗ Mounting on drywall only
- ✗ Needs a mount that doesn't support curved TVs
- ✗ Requires a mount with VESA 400x400mm compatibility
